VICTORIA ON HER THRONE.

n Picture of Her Majesty as She Appeared at Opening of Parliament. G. W. Smalley in the New York Tribune. Her Majesty ack nowledges the grave greeting of her lives by scarcely more than a glance of the eye. The head bent slightly, perhaps, but I am not sure. She, too, walks slowly; there is no vulgar hurry about any part of the business. As she rounds the corner of no vulgar hurry about any part of the busines. As she rounds the corner of the dais, her face is turned full toward our gallery. It is the business of courtiers to say that the Queen looks always well. For my part, I thought she had grown gray since last I saw her, and that the liues of the temples and about the mouth were cut deeper than ever. It can never have reen more than a comely face, and there is nothing, strictly speaking, about its contour, and nothing in the figure, which can be called beautiful or noble. What strikes you, nevertheless, is the air of authorcalled beautiful or noble. What strikes you, nevertheless, is the air of authority and the air of stern sincerity which sits upon this royal brow and marks the least gesture of the Queen. The sadness of the face is profoundly touching; the dignity with which the burden—the all but intolerable burden of her —the all but intolerable burden of her life—is borne, appeals to your respect. She is here, they say, to mark once more her sympathy with the First Minister of the Crown; and with the party which, under his guidance, has been leading this country so strange a dance these three years past. But politics are forgotten in such a presence; and any criticism one has to offer is put decently aside so long as the woman and the Queen is here.

Hurt Him-Views of an Influential New York Republican. New York Herald

When General Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, was stopping at the Fifth Avenue Hotel he was asked to express his opinion as to the probability of the ex-President's nomination in Chicago as it appears since the Harrisburg Convention, and in reply said :- " The Harrisburg Convention strengthened him for the nomination, but diminished his general popularity. If the New York Convention be carried for him also the more timid of the anti-third term republicane will shut up.' If the Illinois Convention be carried for him, too, the republican politicians who have ever opposed the third term will be hard to find, and the ex-President will receive the nomination with a hurrah. At the same time nothing is more certain than that his nomination is not demanded by the people nor sought by his unselfish friends."

friends."

Gen. Ewing was next asked whether the ex-President will, if nominated by the Chicago Convention, be a strong candidate before the people. The answer was:

"I think not. In addition to the general repugnance to a third term, the fact that the popular feeling in Pennsylvania for Biaine was contemptuously disregarded by the managers and the machine politicians who have championed the ex-President, has burt him mmensely."
To the question, "Has the ex President any supporters in Ohio, and what kind of delegation will the republicans of Ohio send to Chicago?" Gen. Ewing answered:—

"The machinery of the republican party in Ohio is in the hands of Sherman's friends, and he will get a large mai's triends, and he will get a large majority, at least, of the Ohio delega-tion. I doubt if the ex-President will have any part of it. Those who are not for Shern an I suppose will be for Rlaine." "What about the Democrats of Chio, General? Who is their first choice?" "If Mr. Thurman be a candidate be-"If Mr. Thurman be a candidate before the Convention no doubt the Onio seek some man who could unite the party East without splitting it West—that is, dropping State pride, we would seek to overthrow the Republican party by such a nomination, if possible, as that of Mr. Seymour."

EMPHATICALLY AGAINST THE THIRD TERM.

Ex-Assemblyman, A. J. Campbell, who represented the Republicans of the Ninth district in the Legislature of 1876, is president of the Lincoln Union the Lincoin Union are straight Repubneans, and have no siliance with the Independent Republican Association, better known as the Republicans who scratched Cornell in the late election. Mr. Campbeil, speaking not for the Lincoln Union, but for himself alone, says that the Harrisburg Convention was an utter perversion of the Repubwas an utter perversion of the Republican sentiment, and that the effort to force the renomination of the ex-President threatens the party with division. "I had hoped," Mr. Campbell continued, "that he would indicate to the public that he would not accept the nomination except it should be the spontaneous will of the party. I have always supported him, I may add right here, but the Republican party fell into disrepute on account of the kind of men who surrounded the Executive Mansion in the latter part of his second Mansion in the latter part of his second Mansion in the latter part of his second term, and it seems to me there is danger that some of that very class of politicisms may foist themselves upon him again it he is elected to a third term. The bad men by whom he was environed very nearly sealed the party's late in the Presidential canvass of 1576, and the country has had more than enough of them. Permit me to say further, that I have no preference as to a santinate, at least he breference that a candidate, at least no preference as to a candidate, at least no preference that care to express at this time, and that I shall be satisfied with any good nomi-nation that the Chicago Convention may make, and moreover, that if the nominee be the ex-President, I shall you for him as against a Damograt." vote for him as against a Democrat."

Mr. Campbell went onto say that the machine will send its own delegates to Utica from this city, and that probably the machine will make up a delegation to represent New York in the Unicago Convention and that all the machine's work will be done without regard to the will of the rank and file of the Republican party. He continued:-THE EX-PRESIDENT SEEKING THE OFFICE. "Now that recent events have convinced me that the ex-President is actually seeking the Presidency. I cantually seeking the Presidency. I cannot resist the impression that that fact weakens him very materially and must have its effect upon many kepublicans who have regarded him as a strong candidate. They say they want a strong candidate. In my opinion there are stronger men than the ex-President in the party. There is no stronger man in the country than Senator Biaine. If he should be installed in the Executive Mausion, and the men who nearest odium upon the Republican neaped odium upon the Republican party were to hoodwink him, he would be smart enough to circumvent them. In my conversations with Republicans In my conversations with respicients

I have found a very large majority—of course, of those with whom I have talked—opposed to the renomination of the ex-President, both on account of his strroundings while he was President and on general principles, as against a third term for any President.
The class of men who decide elections The class of men who decide elections The class of men who decide elections are the silent voters, and they belong largely to the Republican party. It the ex-Yiesadent is nonlineared against they will stay at home, and the loss of their votes will be latal to the Republican party in New York."

Air. Campbell said, in conclusion, that the feeling against the renomination of the ex-President is as deep seated now as it can be after the machine shall have made a delegation to chine shall have made a delegation to go from Utica to Chicago, instructed to vote for a third term, but that the expression of that feeling is nkery to be more emphatic after the Unica Convention than now, because the occasion for speaking out those not seem to tave risen. He hads, he says, the earness advocates of the third term to be either order-dorders or men who expect office under the restoration. THE POLICO MUDDLE AND THE PRESI-

Those who fancy that they see in the Ponce Board complications the hand of the third term managers, say that the dispute as to the right of Mr. Nichols and Mr. MacLean respectively to the face of Police Commissioner may yet become an important factor in the Presidential canvass. For, it is argued, if a Police Board concerning whose legality there are any doubts appoints the election officers in more than seven hundred eclection districts this city controller.

on this city, questions may be raised as to the legitimacy of the vote in that e'ection; and, moreover, if the Board should appoint election officers deliberately with the intention of influenvote of the city of the extent, perhaps, of 10,000-10,000 votes which, in the Empire State, where the battle is to be courts state, where the battle is to be fought, might make a President of the United States. All the friends of both the gentlemen who are claiming a seat in the Ponce Board hope that the courts may finally settle the dispute long before the November election, and Commissioner Voorhis expects that if it is not settled at the time when it will be the Commissioner? will be the Commissioners' duty to ap-point election officers, some judge may do as was done last fall—that is, require do as was done has fall—that is, require the Police Board to appoint one anti-Tammany Democrat and one Tammany Democrat, with every two Republicans so supervise the ballot.

But even such an appointment of election officers, is Mr. Nichols' opinion, will give the Republicant control of the election; for he infers from all of the election; for he infers from all the visible moves that have been made on the political chessboard in this city, as well as from moves that he believes to be under consideration, that a barto be under consideration, that a bargain has been struck by the leaders of the Tammany Hall Democracy with the men who are leading the friends of the ex-President. For example, the schemes for a new charter for the city smack very strongly of an agreement between Tammany Hall and the "stalwart" Republicans. But in charter making there is a hitch. One association is considering an instrument giving the appointment of the heads of departments to the Mayor, the Comptroller and the President of the Board of Aidermen. To this scheme some Republicans raise the objection that the publicans raise the objection that the President of the Board of Aldermen next year may be a Democrat. Another party of Republicans have framed a charter that gives the appointment of heads of departments to the Mayor, the Comptroller and the City Judge, but there are doubts of the constitutionality of making the City Leden tionality of making the City Judge a member of any such Board. All the Republican plans, Commissioner Voor-his says, look to dividing the offices in this city in the ratio of two Republicans to one Tammany Democrat and no anti-Tammany democrats, and all this means so many more votes for the ex-

After a thorough discussion of the subject, and a good deal of wranging, it was voted that the parade be dispensed with, and that what it would cost be given to Ireland, together with subscriptions. A convention of the Irish societies of Kings County was afterward held in the same hall, but no action was taken for or agailst a no action was taken for or against a parade. CINCINNATI CHOSEN.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC COMMIT-THE IN MENSION.

The Precedings and Speeches Upon the Occasion-Political Comments and Suggestions.

The dispatches as published in the News yesterday informed us that the National Democratic Committee at a meeting held Monday had selected Cincinnati as the place for the holding of the next Democratic National Convention. We cull the following additional particulars from the Baltimore

MEETING OF THE COMMITTEE. WASHINGTON, February 23 -The National Democratic Committee met at Willard's Hall to-day at noon to elect a place and appoint a time for holding the National Democratic Convention, and, as has been anticipated, the choice fell upon Cincinnati, the time fixed being June 22, nearly three weeks after the National Republican Convention at the National Republican Convention at Chicago.

From quite an early hour this morning the lobbies and corridors of Willard's Hotel were crowded with a mass of people, citizens and strangers, all busily engaged in discussing the action of the National Democratic Committee. The members of the National Committee kept pretty close and did not mix much with the crowd, but were taking counsel with each other in private. The counsel with each other in private. The delegations from the different cities delegations from the different cities desiring to secure the convention did not relax in their canvassing of the chances, but, as stated last night, the feeling seemed to be among all that Cincinnati was desticed to obtain the coveted honor. So confident of this were the Cincinnati people that they provided to advance a large quantity of champagne and cigars to be dispensed as soon as the formal announcement was made. The usual talk was kept up as to Mr. Tilden's preference in the matter of location, with the hope of making influence one way or the other, as the case might be.

as the case might be. THE PROCEEDINGS.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

Ez-Senator Barnum, chairman, presided over the meeting of the committee, with Frederick O. Prince, secretary. There were present the full membership, thirty-eight, in person or by proxy. Several resolutions were submitted regarding the time of holding the national convention, and the date above mentioned, viz., Tuesday, June 22. The roll was then called to ascertain the number of cities desirous June 22. The roll was then called to accertain the number of cities desirous of presenting claims for the location of the convention, and after an ineffectual attempt on the part of several members to reconider the vote as to the time of meeting, speeches were at length declared in order on the subject of the place. Mr. M. W. Fuller, of Chicago, urged the claims of that city, and its big hall, capable of seating 10,000 persons, and said the transportation of every member of the committee, with his family, would be defrayed by the citizens of Chicago committees and committees of the committees Chicago, as well as their subsis Ex-Mayor Brown, of St. Louis, set forth the advantages of that city, its central position, railroad facilities, hotel accommodations, and an assurance of no increase of hotel rates.

of no increase of hotel rates.

Ex-Representative Sayier, presented the claims of Cincinnati, which he said could duplicate the claims of all the other places in some respects, and in others more than duplicate them. Music Hall, where the convention would be held, has recently been erected, will scat 4,500, and has an entertaining capacity of 7,000. Cincinnati, he said, would bear the expenses, provide head quarters and committee rooms for every State free of charge, and do all necessary printing. The members of necessary printing. The members of the committee and their families would the committee and their families would be propedly entertained and provided for. It was the intention to make the National Democratic Convention a number one convention, whereas if it went to Chicago it would be number three, now that the date is fixed for June 22, the Republican and Greenback conventions preceding it. In concluding he said as Cincinnati named the man in 1856, so will she name him in 1889,

Eugene City, Oregon, was advocated by Representative Whiteaers in a humorous speech, in which he said there were no artificial facilities to be had there, but that members could find good camping grounds, and advised them to bring a good supply of blankets, &c.

Mr. W. L. Scott, of Philadelphia, invited the committee to locate the convited the committee to locate the convention in that pity recommended the Centennial building, and wound up by saying: "There is no city on God's footstool that needs something of this sort so badly as Philadelphia, to enlighten it and get some civilization into it."

Mr. Stillson Hutchins advocated the claims of Washington.

THE BALLOTS. An informal billot was then taken, with the following results: Cincinnati 14, Chicago 10, St. Louis 4, Washington 4, Baltimore 2, Philadelphia 1, Jackson (Miss.)1, Ehgene City (Oregon) 1, blank

-38. The formal ballot was then taken The formal ballot was then taken, with the following results: Cincinnati 24, Chicago S, St. Louis 4, Washington 1, blank 1—28.

Twenty votes being necessary for a choice, Cincinnati was selected. The selection of Cincinnati was then made manimous. Mr. John G. Thompson, after thanking the committee for their action, moved that a committee be appointed to confer with a Cincinnati committee to arrange details. The motion was agreed to, and the chair appointed Messrs. Thompson, McHenry, Bate, Miller, Ham, Priest, Goudey, Barnum and Prince.

THE SECRET SESSION.

THE SECRET SESSION.

In the secret session of the committee to-day, after the close of the session, Mr. Scott, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution tendering the good offices of the National Committee to the divided Democracy of New York for the purpose of restoring harmony tetween the two factions. Mr. Hewitt objected to the resolution, and sand the Democracy of New York was able to settle its differences without any outside assistance, He intimated that at the aproaching convention of the party harmony would be brought about. Some little animation was exhibited during the discussion of the subject, and some of the committee intimated, though perhaps not openly, that the only harmony satisfactory to Mr. Tilden would be to acquiesce in his control of the State convention. The resolution was finally withdrawn. Another proposition was submitted that it be recommended to the different State committees to put on their executive committee the member of the National committee for their State. It ent State committees to put on their ex-seutive committee the member of the National committee for their State. It was held that in this way the National and State committees would be brought into closer relations and the work of both could be rendered more effective. Gen. Ransom, of North Carolina, op-posed this, on the ground that it might be considered as interference with the prerogatives of the State committees. The proposition was, however, adopted.

THE curious rumbling in the Green Mountains which has excited so much curiosity and speculation of late among the Massachusetts and New Hampshire neighbors is at last explained. It is an Edmunds boom.

GEORGE WASHINGTON Was found guilty, on Saturday, at Special Sessions in New York, of stealing $4 by trick and device, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for six months. It seems a fatality that every year, not far from Feb. 22, somebody bearing that honored name shou d attract attention in the dock of a criminal court.

Some of the comic features natural to a Presidential campaign are already beginning to appear. The Washington correspondent of a Sherman organ in Cincinnati, makes an official announcement that "the policy of Sherman's friends in the New York convention will be to have a delegation sent to Chicago unhampered by instructions." As there are just eleven Sherman delegates to the New York convention out of four hundred and ten, old stagers will watch with some interest to see how this Sherman policy comes on,

A PITIFUL story is telegraphed from Washington of the wretched fate of a clerk in the Post Office Department who vainly supposed that this administration really intended to do something in the way of reforming the civil service. This clerk, whose name is Morton, devoted some of his spare thoughts to reform, and finding that there was a ring in the department, he wrote the facts to a relative who is in Congress. The letter was sent to the President, who was very much shocked, and forwarded it to Postmaster General Key. That official was also distressingly shocked, but immediately sent the letter to Assistant Postmas er General Hazen and shocked him. Hazen called in his associates, Tyner and Brady. They were all shocked. They agreed that if there was a ring in the department something ought to be done about it. They come to the nanimous conclusion that it was the most dreadful thing ever heard of, and that the man who found it out should in some way receive some intimation of their appreciation of his work. . They have, therefore, had Mr. Clerk Morton turned out of his position and have, at the same time, re-overed from their collective shock.

LEAP YEAR is full of oddities and quiddities. Besides upsetting the decorums of Cupid and Hymen, it brings into force the statutory rule which provides that "whenever the twenty-second day of February, the thirtieth day of February, the thirtieth day of May, and the Fourth of July shall fall upon Sunday, the Monday next following shall be deemed a public holiday." Each of these days-Decoration Day and Independence Day, as well as this present anniversary day of Washington's birth-happens to fall in this year of our Lord, 1880, upon a Sunday, Christmas Day and the New Year's Day of 1881 will fall upon a Saturday. So that during the year 1880 five religious and civil bolidays will afford our people two successive days of rest apiece from business out of five different weeks. The veterans of the war of 1812, on the other hand, will lose one extra dinner during this year 1880, because Evacuation Day fails upon the la . Thursday of November, which up_ der the usage will be selected by the President as the National Thanksgiving Day.

NEITHER the London Times nor the Pall Mall Gazette has ever been noted for the remarkable extent and accuracy of its acquaintance with contemporary American affairs. Perhaps this is pardonable, but surely on matters connected with the history of our country and of theirs during the Revolutionary days, educated Englishmen old enough to write for the newspapers ought to be as well informed even as that proverbial monster of erudition, "any school-boy." Yet we find our London contemporaries, in their obit uaries of the late Admiral Crozier, K. T. S., declaring that he was the "grand-"son of the gallant Sir Richard Pear-"son who in 1799 boat off an American "squadron of double his own force "under the notorious Paul Jones."

There are several trifling errors in this statement. The gallant Sir Rich and Pearson could not very well have fought with an American squadron under the "notorious Paul Jones" in 1799, in the first place because England and the United States were at that time at peace, had been at peace for sixteen years before that time and continued at peace for thirteen years after that time; and in the next place because at th t time the "notorious Paul Jones" had been dead more than seven years. The American squadron with which the gallant Sir Richard Pearson did indeed engage in battle on the 23d of September, 1779, can hardly be called a squadron of "double his own force." The only vessel he had to contend with was the Bon Homme Richard, manned by 227 men to his 320, and carrying, including the old 18 pounders in the gunroom which burst at the first discharge, 48 guns to his 50.

Then, too, though Captain Pearsonnot then Sir Richard-fought very pluckily, he did not beat off the American squadron, but on the contrary surrendered the Serapis to the "notorious Paul Jones," who carried both her and him on board of her into the Texel, If this is the sort of history which the leading editors of England learn and teach, we shall live in hopes of seeing it announced some of these fine days that "the notorious Gates" surrendered to Burgoyne at Saratoga, and that by his triumphant reduction of Yorktown, in which he had invested the last rebel army under Washington, Lord Corn wallis was enabled to bring the American rebellion of 1776 to a brilliant close in the re-establishment of the royal Bbll-D Wedasstaw; wat a thority from Maine to Georgia.

Washington on Parties.

From the Farewell Address. The very idea of the power and right of the people to establish government presupposes the duty of every individual to obey the established government. All obstructions to the execution of laws, all combinations and as relations under whatever plausible character, with the real design to direct, coursel, countered, or are the rect, control, counteract or awe the regular deliberation and action of the constituted authorities and destructive to this fundamental principle and of fatal tendency. They serve to organize faction, to give it an artful and extraordinary force, to put in the place of the delegated will of the nation, the will of a party, often a small but artful and enterprising minority of the community; and, according to the alternate triumphs of different parties, to make the public administration the mirror of the ill-concerted and incongruous pro jects of fashion, rather than the organ of consistent and wholesome plans, digested by common counsels and modified by mutual interests. However combinations or associations of he above description may now and then answer popular ends, they are likely, in the course of time and things to become potent engines, by which cunning, ambitious and unprincipled men will be able to subvert the power of the people, and to usurp for them selves the reins of government; des troying, afterwards, the very engines which had lifted them to unjust domin-

Marrying A Crazy Man.

Abraham Gosling, formerly a commission merchant of New York, and possessing considerable wealth, has been arrested and placed in an insane asylum by his brether. Abraham, some six years ago, became infatuated with Carrie Fairfield, otherwise known as Hendrickson. She is a blonde of fine appearance, about 32 years of age. Becoming very intimate, he sent her to Europe and followed in the next steam-er. He joined her, but one evening while they were tog ther in the Theatre Royal, Dublin, he created a disturbance, and was evidently so insane that he was sent to an asylum. He was persuaded to return to this country, and was sent to an Asylum near Philadelphia, but was soon discharged as convalescent. Immediately on his rehe renewed his former relations with Miss Fairfield, in spite of the re monstrances of his family. A week ago he went with her to Dr. Gothral, the Jewish rabbi, to be married, but he refused to perform the ceremony on learning the relations existing between them. They next went to the Rev. Dr. Houghton, who married them. The family are desirous of placing him in some private insane asylum, where he can obtain the best of attendance. Mrs. Carrie Gosling, formerly Fairfield, has, however, obtained a writ of habeas corpus to test the right of the brother to confine him. In her affidavit she asserts her marriage to him on the 16th instant, but admits that they have been living together as man and wife. The case is to be heard in the New York supreme court.

The Fire Aiarm,

Yesterday morning about 8 o'clock the alarm of fire was sounded for di vision three. The fire department-in fact the whole town, was out, but owing to the fact that no house was on fire no one ever reached there. The Chemcals lead, as usual, folloved by the other companies. Rescue made good time and the new horses are beginning to understand their business in drawing the engine. They are, perhaps, a little too spirited now, but it will not take them long to come out of that.

A colored girl employed by Mr. J. Higgs as a nurse, was taking a nap before a fire at about 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

When the alarm of fire was sounded for division three, this girl was frantically rushing about the yard (in fire division two) with her clothing on fire. The people and fire companies were hurrying in the direction of Ward five, when this girl lived in the third ward She was terribly burned, and her injuries may prove fatal, though there is good reason for believing she will re-

A LEAP YEAR PROPOSAL.

The Bashful Young Man of San Juan and the Maiden by the Well.

From the San Juan (Cal.) Independent. Not many miles from San Juan—not more than fifteen—resides a young farmer, who is not over twenty-five years of age. He has considerable of the requisite—the coin. Up to within a very short time he had led a lonely life, but thanks to the year 1880, which has proved his salvation—a young lady has proposed to him, and he is now enjoying her society as his wife. The following is the way it was brought about: The young man had every qualification for a good business man, but notwith-standing all this was extremely bashful and blushed clear to his ears every time he caught sight of a young lady. Moreover, he imagined he was a fright to behold, and no girl would condescend to look with favor upon him. In fact, it was his opinion that he was destined to lead a life of single blessedness all the days he might wander about on this terrestrial sphere. One day, how-ever, he stopped at the house where re-sided a lovely girl. She had seen how shy he was on every occasion and be-came infatuated with the peddler of apples and garden truck, and was determined that the ice should be broken, as leap year had arrived, which gave her every privilege in this particular granted to the sterner sex. The young lady therefore wa ked up to him as the stood by the well and calling as he stood by the well, and, calling the young man by his given name, asked him why he did not get married. He replied with characteristic nonesthat he did'nt think there was anybody who would have him. "Why." replied the young lady with great fer-vency, "I will have you." The young man turned red and stammered by turns, but finally be did manage to tell her "All right." Arrangements were made at once for the marriage ceremony, and in less than a week they were living together as man and wite, happy

The labor troubles at St. Louis are said to be assuming alarming propo-tions. Aiready the wagonmakers, cab-met makers, brass finishers, molders and wood carvers are on a strike, and the teamsters, painters, tanners, tobacco rollers, stone cutters and stone masons, store porters, pressmen, varnishers and journeymen tailors are all or ganizing preparatory to striking. The coal miners in the Belleville district are also uneasy.

Princely Penuriousness.

English Correspondence Philadelphia Tel-Some of those who were honored by invitation to meet the Prince of Wales at Hughenden have not scrupled to affirm that their host is failing as much mentally as he is know to be physically. Lord Beaconsfield is said to be far from the man he was even a year ago, and life at his country seat is described as "portentously slow and pompously dull." The witty mot and sparkling repartee were conspicuous by their absence. Lord Beacousfie d, it is said, spoke but seidom, and when the did yenture a remark it near only he did venture a remark it par ook more of the nature of a thinly disguise platitude than of those brilliant epiously from his lips whenever he opened his mouth.

Taken all round, the Hughenden visit was rather a faiture. H. R. H. is fond of high play, and i ord B consfield's face is said to have brown ludicrously long when his Royal guest pro-posed sovereign points at whist. A fondness foo cards prevails among the Royal family, I am told, but they do not all lose their money so gracefully as does the heir-apparent. The Duke of Edinburgh's meanness has passed hood is not known. The letter thus addressed her in the postoffice is, thereof his marrying his Russian wife. He gets so savage at losing that he is a source of immense fun to those with whom he plays. I heard a good, well-authenticated story apropos of this weak side of the Duke's character a year or two ago His Royal Highness had accompanied ome ladies to the theatre or opera. If I remember rightly, it was the Crite-rion. After the performance the party adjourned to supper. The waiters of course recognized H. R. H., and expected a handsome gratuity. After the refreshments had been partaken of the Duke called for his bill. The half dozen lackeys flew around more expectantly than ever. The wished-for document was produced, handed to the Duke on a silver salver in the orthodox fashion, and found to amount to £9 17s. 6d. His Royal Highness threw down a £10 "flimsy," saying at the same time with the royal air of a man who is giving away a small fortune, "Waitahs, keep the change, ah," and the disgust-ed waiters, who had looked for half a sovereign apiece, had to content themselves with the munificent sum of about fifty cents among six of them,

Dead Shot. Among the large number of sports-men in the city now but few, if any, may be called "dead shots" and the same is true of smokers, but the "dead sand is true of smokers, but the "dead shot" five cent cigar sold by W. C. & A. B. Stronach has been tried for years and never fails. It is therefore true to its name and only requires a trial to convince. Call for the "dead shot" and have no other.

Mamma, Get This for Me Every body is talking about Cherokee Cough Cure being so good for the whooping cough, please try it. American Watches. The American Watch Company of Waltham received last week an order from the British government for 372 watches, intended for the use of conductors, engineers, station-masters and other employes of the State railroads of India. This is the third large order received by the company from the same source, and, like the former ones, was obtained in public competition with foreign manufacturers. The London "Jeweller and Metal-Worker," in its issue of January 15th, observes, in reference te this order:

"The contract for watches, to be used by the officials on the Indian State rail-ways, has again been secured by the American Watch Company. This is the third time Messrs. Robbins & Appleton have received this distinction, which is not a barren one, for it must be vident to the most prejudiced individuals that
